Teacher: Mrs Archer Dytch	Subject: Times tables and spellings	Date: 11.12.20

Good afternoon,
We are counting down to Christmas!

Thank you for all the Christmas tinsel. The classroom looks very festive and we are certainly getting into the Christmas spirit. The Christmas dinner was as brilliant as usual and we spent the whole day making decorations and cards, turning it into a full-on Christmas experience.

Today we have made more decorations and everyone has looked fabulous in their Christmas jumper.

Next week we will finish our own chapter of 'How to Train Your Dragon' and do our end of term maths assessment. Other than that, we shall do Christmas maths and literacy activities. On Wednesday we shall have a class party day and play games and watch a Christmas film. I believe, Mrs Plumb has a few surprises for us too. Please come in party clothes!

Homework this week

As I have to quarantine homework, and I shall not be able to look at it until next year, I have asked that the children learn their spellings and continue to learn their tables, ready for tests in the New Year. Our text for next term will be Mr Stink, by David Walliams, if you wish to give Santa the nod, and links to our new topic, Burps, Bottoms and Bile!! (teeth and digestion).

There will be no formal homework over the Christmas period either, so I will not be sending out a class letter. I will, however, be inviting six children to join my maths Covid Catch-up sessions in the New Year. If your child is invited please accept if you can, as it has been very valuable for those who have just completed the first literacy one.

I hope you take this opportunity to spend much deserved family time and I wish you all a safe and joyous Christmas.

Best wishes

Jo Archer Dytch
