Well come back!!!

How fantastic is it to be back in school and what a fabulous first week we have had?

Firstly, I would like to thank everyone for bringing their poems into school. Yesterday during World Book Day I made a book call 'Class 4 Lockdown Poems 2021'. I think it will be a very special book to have in the class to reminds us in years to come, how it's the small things in life we miss the most. I hope you will get to see it when school is once more open to parents.

We had a superb day yesterday during World Book Day. The costumes were fabulous and I loved the way many children brought the book into school in which their character appears. Please see the school newsletter for photos.

Also, thank you for the Skara Brea report work. I am so proud of the children for their beautiful take care work. The work really shows how the children understand our school ethos.

Curriculum:

Until Easter we are carrying on with our topic Through the Ages and this week we have been lucky enough to look at (and touch) some real artefacts from the Stone Age. In English we are studying the book called Stone Age Boy and we will be using this to inspire our historical narrative writing. We are reading Stig of the Dump during our reciprocal reading sessions. In maths we will continue to use Whiterose and are about to start decimals next week. In IT we are coding and in RE we will continue with the Easter story.

Homework:

Please can you practise spellings and time tables as I will be testing the children on both in the coming weeks. We had a Year 4 maths quiz this week to see where we all were and I'm delighted to say the results were very pleasing

Have a good weekend
