- Explored the link between sprint time and heart rate
- Looked at the impact of climate change and extreme weather on people all over the world
- Thought about what God might hate in RE
- Purple Mashed in computing

Parents Evening slots have all been handed out now and sent home with children. I am looking forward to discussing your children's progress with you next week on Tuesday and Wednesday. You will also have the chance to look at your children's work so far this year.

The children have shown real determination and resilience this week with their assessments. They have attempted some tricky questions and had a go – even if they weren't sure!

Year 6 homework for this week

Joint creative homework with Year 5 – see sheet sent home with children for more details.
