This term we are kick-starting with boosters and our weekly homework books. Every Friday afternoon, these will be marked as a class and feedback will be given.

It's been great to have the children back this week and we've got stuck into LOTS of learning as you can see above. We have been incredibly busy I'm sure everyone is quite tired! My favourite part of this week has been introducing the children to a book I read over half-term... The Final Year by Matt Goodfellow. An incredible book about life as a year 6 child with everything that they may experience along the way. It is written in the form of lots of small poems, that all come together to create a wonderful story. The children are so engaged so far...so far that we are nearly halfway through already!

Homework for this week:

If children need time to complete this in school, they should let me know and I can organise this for them. I advise that children don't get too far ahead, to keep up the 'little and often' approach. Unless they have an incredibly busy week coming up, where they may want to get ahead of themselves slightly.
