

Rising stars

We will be allocating books on this website so that you and your child will be able to read at home with phonically decodable books. As a school and Team, we know many of you prefer real books but this website allows the children to practise their reading skills in a different way.

Each child will have their own unique username and password.

The login details are as follows:

<https://my.risingstars-uk.com>

Username: this your child's name and surname e.g Joe Bloggs

Password: your child's purple mash password e.g. dog65

(These have been sent out today if your child is in school. For those not in school, let us know and we will send it out to you asap)

Centre Number: 217372

We have also put the user guide on the website so that you can find out how to read with your child. Please complete the little quiz at the end of the book as this is the only way that we can see the books have been read at home.

We hope you enjoy using this website.
