

Adjectives and Nouns Once I saw this slimy snail Crawling on the ground Slimy is the adjective And snail is the noun Then I saw this hairy spider Walking on the ground Hairy is the adjective And spider is the noun Refrain: Adjectives and nouns Adjectives and nouns They are each Parts of speech Those adjectives and nouns Then I saw these purple shoes Walking on the ground Purple is the adjective And shoes is the noun Then I saw these dirty socks Lying on the ground Dirty is the adjective And socks is the noun I'm A Pronoun I'm a pronoun A professional noun I get paid for being around I'm a pronoun No I don't get money I don't get paid I was just being cute Actually I'm just a person or thing I'm just a noun substitute Refrain I is a pronoun You is a pronoun We is a pronoun They is a "pronoun She is" a pronoun He is a pronoun It is a pronoun, too	The Ballad of the Collective Nouns A murder of crows A labour of moles And a smack of jellyfish, too A trip of goats A knot of toads And a troop of kangaroos A paddling of ducks A hear of bucks And a drift of overweight hogs A gaggle of geese A swarm of bees And a pack of lean, hungry dogs Refrain: Nouns, nouns Collective nouns abound Nouns, nouns Collective nouns abound A parliament of owls A rack of towels And a watch of nightingales sweet A siege of herons A sloth of bears And a rafter of turkeys to eat A shrewdness of apes A bunch of grapes And a skulk of wiley foxes Leopards in a leap And chickens in a peep And a crash of rhinoceroses	Homonyms I saw Jim In the gym I heard him Sing a hymn Have you ever heard A cattle herd? For words like that There is a word "Refrain: They're called homonyms" Not antonyms Not synonyms I'm talking about homonyms "I was weak For an entire week" 'Til I got to meet A piece of meat Then I ate At a little past eight The cheese I grate It tasted great
---	--	---